

Privacy Policy June 2004

www.steel.org realizes you are concerned about your privacy and wants you to know how we are using your personal information. To protect your privacy, steel.org will not sell your e-mail address or any of your other personal information to other organizations. If we ask you to provide information that personally identifies you, our request to do so will be specific.

We may modify or amend this Policy from time to time. In an effort to keep you informed of changes to this Policy, we will indicate the effective date of the currently posted policy at the top of the Policy. For substantial changes to this Policy, we will notify you by placing prominent notice on our homepage. Changes to this Policy will not affect our use of previously provided personal information. No personal information provided by you under the terms of this Policy (or any prior version of this Policy) will be used in a manner that is materially inconsistent with it, without your prior written permission.
